Central Warehousing Corporation (CWC) operates under the Warehousing Corporation Act, 1962 supported by CWC Rules, 1963, CWC (General) Regulations, 1965 and CWC (Staff) Regulations, 1986. The CWC is providing Scientific Storage Facilities for more than 400 commodities at 433 numbers of Warehouses. As a bailed of the stocks stored in its Warehouses, the Corporation does not grant any permits, concessions and authorizations of any kind to the public. However, CWC provides rebate on Storage Charges to the bonafide farmers, Co-operatives & State Civil Supplies Corporations, who bring their food-grain produce to Central Warehouses for storage. As a quality policy CWC has to reach its customers. As a part of aggressive thrust under the Quality Policy, rebates are extended to customers/users on certain criteria such as committed volume of business for a committed period based on market forces.
